The King's Desire

Jesus needs nothing. He not only possesses God, but he is God. He is King of heaven and earth. At his name every knee bows in heaven, on earth, and under the earth. All creation intones unceasingly that canticle of the Apocalypse: "Blessing and honour and glory and power, through endless ages, to Him who sits on the throne and to the Lamb" (Rv 5:13).

But if Jesus possesses everything in heaven, much is lacking to him upon earth because the desires of his heart are not satisfied. What is it that he desires? To complete his mystical body, to reach the fullness of his stature (Ep 4:13). He desires that souls be united with him, live his life, and adapt themselves to his sentiments so that he may present them to his heavenly Father as the trophy of his victory for the glory of the Father and the sanctification of souls….

Never in the heart of any warrior has there been the unbounded aspiration that consumes the Heart of Jesus—his burning desire to save and sanctify all men. What consolation for him if each one of us would say: "Lord, I have caught a glimpse of your divine enterprise, and here I am to help you. Since souls may be purified and saved by suffering, I wish to be a victim with you, the Supreme Victim. Henceforth your destiny will be my destiny. I wish that the same lance transfix your heart and mine, that the same thorns pierce both hearts, and that one and the same cross surmount them. Here I am. In all my smallness unite myself to you in your colossal enterprise of saving the world."

Servant of God Luis María Martínez
